Progress Note

Client arrived on time and was oriented to person, place and time. Mood was described as "tired but steadier"; affect was congruent and a little flat. Client reports sleep has improved to about six hours on most nights since starting the wind-down routine from the last session. Worry remains highest in the mornings before work. We reviewed the thought record from the past week and practiced reframing two entries. Homework: continue the sleep log and complete one thought record per day. No suicidal ideation, self-harm or violence reported.
